WHY SHOULD YOU ATTEND IMPE 2023?

Connect with a world-wide audience of pediatric endocrinologists as we promote training and education at an international level. We are expecting over 3,500 experts in the science and practice of pediatric endocrinology to join us in Buenos Aires for IMPE 2023. IMPE is a rare chance for the global paediatric endocrine community to gather in one place and discuss recent advances. Support IMPE for the opportunity to:

- Share your key messages with more than 3,500 members of your target audience
- Deliver your educational content to an international audience of key opinion leaders
- Engage with the world's most influential pediatric endocrinologists in a range of different settings
- Promote your products and services in our bustling exhibition
- Position yourself as a global industry leader.
